RLG NORTH RIDGEVILLE: FABRICATION SHOP FACE LIFT

A 'before' shots of the North Ridgeville fabrication shop.

Work has begun on renovations to the fabrication shop at RLG's new office location in North Ridgeville. The 17,000-square-foot facility will be able to support Northeast Ohio and serve as a back-up to Lima and Northwest Ohio's fabrication teams.

Because of labor shortage trends, more work is being done at the fabrication shop level—such as building on a skid and delivering to a customer site.

Renovations are expected to wrap-up by March 2019. There will be 8 to 12 associates working in the new facility.

Leading the team:

Paul Daniluk, project manager
Scott Hunkley, superintendent
Mark Tomasek, electrical project manager
Jim Paulitzky, piping project manager
Kevin Comerford, piping foreman
Dave Yakunovich, civil foreman
Tony Ross, structural foreman

MORE AWARDS FOR PROMEDICA'S NEW HEADQUARTERS

RLG has been honored with a fourth construction industry award for its work on ProMedica's downtown Toledo headquarters campus.

The ProMedica Steam Plant has received an Honorable Mention in Building Design & Construction magazine's 2018 Reconstruction Awards competition. Of 62 projects entered in the contest, 20 were selected to receive awards.

The Steam Plant also received an "Award of Merit" as one of Engineering News-Record Midwest's 2018 Best Projects.

RLI was construction manager and GEM performed structural steel and mechanical work.

RLG recently completed a lobby renovation for the Hyland building.

COMPLETED PROJECTS: JCI FLORENCE AND TOLEDO

Holland - RLG recently completed a Chemset installation at JCI's plant in Holland. GEM self-performed Chemset installation, mechanical and electrical work and RLI installed trench drains and catch basins.

Leading the team:

Kurt McKee, project manager
Joe Evans and Aaron Clark, millwright foremen
Jim Hovis, pipefitter general foreman
Eric Walentowski, electrical foreman
Tom Bohn, RLI foreman
Sam Farmer, special accounts manager

Florence, South Carolina - GEM wrapped up the management and installation of a new EFB battery line and supporting systems at JCI's Florence plant. Work included cooling water upgrades and a new RO water skid.

Leading the team:

Dan Stark, project manager
Dan Clementz, superintendent
Brandon Gartee, business development

NEW PROJECTS: BP HUSKY AND CREDIT ADJUSTMENTS' NEW HQ

Oregon - RLG is working on instrumentation and mechanical preparations for BP Husky's spring 2019 turnaround.

GEM is completing shop fabrication of turnaround piping and the field installation of instrumentation equipment. RLI is performing building modifications and scaffolding.

All field work will be completed while the refinery is still operating. Work begins in late December and will wrap-up by March.

Leading the team:

Corey Partin and Wes Horner, project managers
Ray Urbanski, electrical general foreman
Kenny Shultz, pipefitter general foreman
Steve Cook, electrical foreman
Luke McGarry, safety
Will Reifsnnyder, scaffolding

A rendering of the Credit Adjustments HQ

Defiance - RLI is construction manager for Credit Adjustments Inc.'s new 32,000-square-foot headquarters.

In spring 2019, construction will begin on the modern, two-story workplace, which will include an atrium and training and collaboration spaces.

Large windows will offer views of nearby wooded areas and make the most of natural light.

Leading the team:

Michelle Dean, business development manager
John MacGregor, manager of CM services

RLI'S NEWEST RETIREES BEGIN A NEW CHAPTER

Best wishes for a happy retirement to RLI's newest retirees: Marie Urbina-Riedel and Mark Pence, both laborers, and Bob Yaross, carpenter.

Pence was hired in 1989. Urbina-Riedel and Yaross were hired in 2004.
